The EU4Health programme and its budget should address not only the COVID-19 recovery, but a sustainable system able to cope with emergency situations and crises in the future.	Civil society health organisations are an essential resource in shaping health policy at national and European levels	The role of health promotion, primary prevention and recovery support should be strengthened and prioritised to improve physical and mental health, and the well-being of all people living in Europe. This should include both communicable	The EU4Health programme should include actions to support health literacy and digital health literacy improvements for people of all ages living in Europe	The focus on cancer offers an exciting case study and template for what focused EU health cooperation can achieve	Special focus should be given to other non-communicable diseases and their risk factors such as nutrition, smoking and alcohol consumption	Coherence should be ensured with other elements of the EU budget	Solid governance and dedicated coordination structure for the EU4Health programme	Better harmonised data systems	Strengthening of EU agencies, in particular the ECDC and EMA
